

Milwaukee Women's Organization
 Call: 24-1111
 1000 W. Wisconsin Ave.
 Milwaukee 26, Wis.

Today's Post Bag

THE WEATHER	TEMP.	WIND	SEA
Jerusalem	24	10	1
Tel Aviv	26	12	1
Haifa	24	10	1
Beirut	26	12	1
London	18	10	1
New York	72	10	1
Paris	18	10	1
Bombay	82	10	1
Singapore	82	10	1
Manila	82	10	1
Yokohama	82	10	1
Osaka	82	10	1
Tokyo	82	10	1

AN OFFICIAL WEIGHING one-and-a-half kilograms was yesterday presented to Mrs. Hagar Ben-David by Mrs. Deborah Tager, a member of Urin, on behalf of the Neger kibbutz.

THE LABOUR MINISTER, Mrs. Golda Myerson's appeal against her exclusion from the Tel Aviv voters list was approved yesterday by Tel Aviv District Judge T. Lamm. Mrs. Myerson was granted the right to cast her vote in Tel Aviv in the Knesset and local Municipal Elections.

A LOBBY DRIVER was fined 12,000 by the Jerusalem Magistrate yesterday, and had his license suspended for three months, for causing an accident last February in which three persons were hurt and two cars were damaged. He was also fined 12,000 for an earlier offense.

FOR USING paraffin in the production of blouses, the African factory was recently fined 12,000 by the Tel Aviv Magistrate, Mr. I. Steinberg. The two partners were each fined 12,000 and given suspended sentences of four months.

LICENCES FOR the production of grape-juice are being issued by the Ministry of Commerce and Industry to manufacturers who comply themselves to observe the Ministry's regulations which include the washing and immediate pressing of the fruit which must not be sprayed with dangerous chemicals.

FOR FAILING to install safeguards on two machines, the management of the Holiand laundry in Olavim was yesterday fined 12,000 by Tel Aviv Magistrate Meir Rubin.

SUBSIDIES for cement exports to the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Ministry sources reported yesterday that the cement factories of the leased zone for their exports last week in a just one, but during which it might take some time.

RESEARCHERS are seeking for a flock of 20 sheep and goats which strayed when they shepherd, of Moshav Ahimsa, fell asleep. It is reported that they may have fallen into the hands of infiltrators.

SOME 200 members met in Jerusalem last night to open their campaign for the Jerusalem Municipal elections. The list is calling for "greater efficiency in Municipal services."

Ready to Accept Soviet Aid If Offered Through U.N.—Sharrett

Jerusalem Post Knesset Reporter

With the Knesset due to adjourn on Thursday, the Prime Minister and Minister for Foreign Affairs yesterday spent an hour replying to 23 parliamentary questions which had accumulated over the past few months.

In reply to a question by Mrs. M. Vardi, Minister for Technical Assistance, Mr. Sharrett said that Israel does not discriminate against any country and is ready to accept assistance from any source, providing only that it is in the kind of assistance of which she is in need and that it is offered by those authorized to do so. This attitude is well known to the U.N. Technical Assistance Board.

As far as the Prime Minister continued, Israel has not received any offer of technical assistance from the U.N. on behalf of various Soviet Union. The Government's position is that if aid from the Soviet Union is offered in the form of a loan, it will be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. Sharrett stated that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

France's Ex-Minister For Air Arrives

LYDIA AIRPORT, Tuesday. — M. Diemede Catroux, member of the French National Assembly and former Secretary for Air in the Mendes-France administration, arrived here after a week's tour as guest of the Government.

At the airport he was met by the French Ambassador, M. P. E. Gilbert, the Director General of the Ministry of Defense, and Mr. A. Peres, and the head of the West European Division of the Foreign Ministry, Mr. E. Najjar.

A nephew of the famous general, Georges Catroux, (whose name was reported this morning in error), the visitor, like his uncle, is a comrade-in-arms of General Charles de Gaulle.

According to her mother's log, the leftist minister for Air in the French Government, M. Catroux was a member of the Free French Mission in the U.S. before that, he had taken part in the fighting in 1945 spent a month in a convalescent camp in this country.

He himself a pilot, M. Catroux had nothing but praise for the Israelis, whom he had seen several times in the fighting in France.

"They are really excellent," he exclaimed.

M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

"Our interceptor fighters," he said, "have been designed to climb high with exceptional speed, and should be able to meet the enemy at the border."

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Adding insult to injury — and injury to insult — M. Catroux was one of the French signatories to the act of the Ministry of Air, which was signed by the French Government.

Bracha Fuld Home As Beirut 'Explains'

HAIFA, Tuesday. — The small s.s. Bracha Fuld arrived here early this afternoon, after being held in Beirut for a day. The Lebanese police detained the ship in the belief that she had entered Lebanese waters, but her captain stated that she was 15 miles off shore at the time.

According to a Beirut Lebanese spokesman, quoted by HAIFA, the ship was detained when it was reported that the captain, who had directed the ship along a line close to Lebanese territorial waters.

The Bracha Fuld has a seven-man crew, — an Italian captain, three Israelis and three Greeks. According to her master's log, the ship was held in Beirut for a day.

When the train was heard on the outskirts of Jerusalem, the rabbi's followers hysterically broke through the police line and overflowed onto the rails themselves from where they were returned by the police.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Hassidim Ecstatically Welcome Rabbi Teitelbaum of Satmar

THE UNBROKEN devotion of extreme Orthodox Jewry for their spiritual leader, Rabbi Yosef Teitelbaum — the rebbe of Satmar — burst into frantic enthusiasm yesterday afternoon as his special train pulled into Jerusalem at 6 o'clock.

Early the same morning, Rabbi Teitelbaum, 68, had disembarked from the s.s. Mesopotamia in Haifa Port and visited briefly Kiryat Eliezer.

An hour before the special train arrived in the Capital, several hundred of his followers, members of Neturei Karta, the Edah Hachadisha and Hungarian religious Jews, formed a milling crowd outside the station.

When the train was heard on the outskirts of Jerusalem, the rabbi's followers hysterically broke through the police line and overflowed onto the rails themselves from where they were returned by the police.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Rabbi Teitelbaum, who is tiny and frail, waited ten minutes before he tried to make his way out of the station, surrounded by policemen who shouldered the crowd back.

Higher Pensions For War Disabled

Higher pensions for disabled veterans of the War of Liberation were approved by the Knesset last night when it passed, without opposition, the Amendment to the Disabled Veterans Bill.

Mr. Ben-Zion, Minister for Social Affairs, said that the Government was making an automatic adjustment to the cost of living.

The law contains several changes made by the Labour Committee. The amount of disability which entitles an unemployed veteran to a pension was reduced from 50 to 40 per cent.

A temporary order extends for six months the right of a disabled veteran to a pension of 40 per cent of his right to do so had become void under the original law.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

Mr. A. Givon, Chairman of the Committee, said that the Government would be the first opportunity to examine the offer of technical assistance from the Soviet Union, which would be examined on its merits, without any reservations of principle.

